

The government has officially presented the new Electricity Industry Act, aimed at easing household burdens, stabilizing the grid, and accelerating the transition to renewable energy. At ...

Decentralised energy supply within the framework of communal generation facilities, renewable energy communities, and citizen energy communities has already established itself in Austria.

Austria's electricity market is not an isolated entity but is intricately linked with the broader European Union (EU) electricity market. This integration plays a crucial role in the stability and efficiency of Austria's energy sector.

Austria has released its revised draft of the Electricity Industry Act (EIWG), the country's largest electricity market reform in 2 decades aimed at accelerating the energy transition.

Interconnectivity with neighboring countries, such as Hungary, Czech Republic, and Austria, is a significant aspect of Slovakia's energy strategy. This regional collaboration supports the stability and sustainability of the ...

La empresa Austria Energy ingresó al Sistema de Evaluación de Impacto Ambiental (SEIA) el proyecto Parque Fotovoltaico Sol de Algarrobal, el cual contempla una inversión estimada de ...

Austria's EV Ambitions and the Need for Private Investment Austria aims to be climate-neutral by 2040, with the decarbonization of transport a key area. As the adoption of electric vehicles ...

Electricity prices This page presents the daily average prices, tax-free, for European countries that are members of ENTSO-E - European Network of Transmission System Operators for Electricity. The prices are displayed in ...

Austria shows Europe how a country manages its electricity system, which matters just as much as what powers it. By combining stable local generation, targeted household support, and ...

Industry federations representing heavy electricity consumers in Greece (EVIKEN), Bulgaria (BFIEC), and Romania (ACER) have accused Austria of violating EU regulations by limiting ...

Austria electricity

