

Gordon McBean: Leading Canadian Expert on Arctic Climate, Driving Action for a Resilient Future Professor Gordon McBean is a scientific leader on climate change and disaster risk reduction. ...

Spring 2025 bulletin (PDF, 849 KB) This bulletin summarizes recent climate data and presents it in a historical context. It first examines the national average temperature for the season and ...

Landmark court ruling a stark rebuke of Canadian position on climate change This article was written by John Woodside and was published in Canada's National Observer on July 23, 2025.

The Canadian Environmental Protection Act, 1999 is one of Canada's core environmental laws. On June 13, 2023, Bill S-5, Strengthening Environmental Protection for a Healthier Canada ...

Some gardeners may be able to grow palms and even cold-hardy citrus in parts of Canada, according to the federal government's latest Plant Hardiness Zones map, the first update since ...

OTTAWA -- A warning from the United Nations' top court that failing to address climate change could violate international law could lead to greater public scrutiny of major projects in Canada, ...

This Letter to the Editor was written by Ray Nakano and published in the Toronto Star on July 26, 2025. Re: Federal officials say wildfire forecast shows high risk of more fires this summer, ...

Canadian Supreme Court justices rendered an opinion regarding climate change that does not bear up under scrutiny. Former government litigator Jack Wright exposes the errors in his C2C ...

By "everything," Samson means things like housing (where modular home building and green financing have the potential for a massive impact on Canada's emissions), defense spending ...

About Ecojustice uses the power of the law to defend nature, combat climate change and fight for a healthy environment. Its strategic, public interest lawsuits and advocacy lead to precedent ...

On July 22, 2025, the Honourable Julie Dabrusin, Minister of Environment and Climate Change, announced that over $14.4 million from the Climate Action and Awareness Fund will support ...

Canada will continue to warm until at least 2050 due to long climate time scales. With warming, extreme storm events can be expected, bringing hail, rain, tornadoes, floods, and more hot ...

Climate change canada

That's a question three student researchers from Wilfrid Laurier University set out to answer by analyzing 75 years of temperature data in 14 capital cities across Canada, using July 1 as a ...

Climate change canada

Web: <https://kindanewdecor.co.za>

