Every year, more than 110,000 visitors flock to the Faroe Islands, a North Atlantic archipelago with a population of 54,000. To mitigate the negative effects of tourism, the islands' annual "Closed for Maintenance" program shuts key attractions over three days and allows a limited number of volunteers to refresh trails, repair fences and install signs.

Though the Faroe Islands have abundant energy resources such as hydropower, wind power and tidal power, the challenge was how to balance such a relatively small electrical system. The ...

The selection process. This past January, 5,945 aspiring volunteers from 96 countries applied for the 80 available spots in the 2024 project on the Visit Faroe Islands website. About 70 percent of the volunteers were chosen randomly, while the other spots were hand-selected for relevant experience that matched up with specific projects.
