

On July 17, 2025, Basrah, a key city in southern Iraq, recorded an intense temperature of +51.6°C, marking one of the hottest days in the country's history. This reading stands just ...

Sand, dust storms affect about 330 million people due to climate change: UN Nearly half the global population has also been exposed to dust levels exceeding WHO safety thresholds.

Despite its deep historical roots and ongoing economic significance, Basra is now confronting a severe environmental crisis marked by extreme heat, dangerously high water salinity, and ...

"Iraq is one of the most vulnerable countries in the MENA region to climate change, with temperatures increasing seven times faster than the global average, and extreme droughts have become more severe and frequent in recent years.

Israel's brutal attacks on the Gaza Strip continued on Wednesday, with at least 17 people killed across the enclave since dawn, according to medical sources speaking to Al-Jazeera. Those ...

Hundreds of Iraqis protested Friday against severe water shortages exacerbated by the summer's sweltering heat in the central province of Babylon, an AFP correspondent said. Iraq, and its 46 ...

Over 10 years after ISIS takeover, Iraq's Mosul Airport reopens: What to know The airport has been out of operation since the fall of the northern Iraqi city to the Islamic State in 2014.

1. Introduction Climate resilience planning in southern Iraq The regional effects of global climate change are increasingly being noticed as areas of voiced concern in the Middle East. While ...

Iraq's Climate Investment Plan (CIP) marks a turning point in the nation's ambition to tackle climate change impacts and drive economic diversification by strategically integrating climate ...

Iraqi Minister of Environment, H.E. Dr. Halo Al-Askari, highlighted that addressing climate change is a top priority for the Iraqi government, integral to the transition towards a sustainable green ...

In the past, these marshes were Iraq's cradle of civilization. Today, they are a battleground between climate change and human endurance. "This initiative is rooted in the belief that the most effective climate solutions happen when ...

In Iraq, drought is considered the most significant outcome of climate change, severely impacting people's daily lives and contributing to internal displacement. This paper examines drought as ...

Iraq climate change

This environmental-labor emergency is considered a chronic public health and governance failure, exacerbated by climate change and the state's inability to protect its most vulnerable citizens. ...

The Indo-Pacific region is particularly exposed to climate impacts, and Indonesia, like many countries, will be severely affected by climate impacts in the decade to come. The effects of ...

Climate change o Climate change refers to long-term shifts in temperatures and weather patterns. Human activities have been the main driver of climate change, primarily due to the burning of ...

Iraq has issued its first life sentence under the 2022 anti-normalisation law [Getty] Iraq has handed down its first life sentence under a law that criminalises normalisation with Israel, the ...

This Oxfam briefing paper examines the intersection of gender inequality and climate change in Iraq, focusing on the agricultural sector. Women in Iraq face systemic barriers that confine them to the "private sphere," limiting ...

It reframes climate action not as a burden, but as a powerful opportunity for economic transformation and sustainable development. This message is particularly relevant for Iraq, which is already facing the severe impacts of ...

Iraq is the fifth most vulnerable country to climate change. Rising temperatures, water scarcity, and extreme weather are already taking a toll. This post unpacks why the ICRN is not just ...

Iraq climate change

Web: <https://kindanewdecor.co.za>

