

CLIMATE change threatens public health by affecting the distribution and spread of food-borne pathogens, according to a recent study by food scientists from Benha University in Egypt published in Nature.

The President of Mozambique proposed to the member states of the United Nations a Global Partnership for Climate Finance focused on the most vulnerable countries. Daniel Chapo was ...

The International Conference on Climate Leadership, held in Harbin, China on July 21-22, provided a valuable platform to present and discuss the nexus between health and climate ...

Climate change and natural disasters also contribute to further displacement. In fact, land rights are twice a problem in climate change response; land tenure issues are exacerbated by the new ...

Climate change must be a radical political commitment to decolonize the world and dismantle the murderous, colonial-driven causes of the climate crisis. Western society has become entrenched in finding solutions that fit into a ...

The President of the Republic, Daniel Chapo, on Monday (30) in Seville, advocated for the creation of a Global Partnership for Climate Financing that would fairly address the needs of ...

writes Toluwalola Kasali Africa-Press - Mozambique. With limited resources, Finance Ministers must square the circle of funding development and climate adaptation programmes. Millions of ...

Africa stands at the intersection of some of the most profound challenges and opportunities of climate change, security, and development. Despite contributing minimally to global emissions, ...

No matter your personality or priorities, there's a climate organization that fits. If you're looking to help fight climate change with your wallet, use this guide to help you figure out where to give.

Climate change is a significant global problem of this century. Till date, the major assumptions of changes driven by climate change are associated with rising temperature and extreme weather ...

In addition to the human victims, they destroy crops, causing hunger in the following months and years By Aurélio Muianga Maputo (MOZTIMES) - A new insurance against ...

Climate change is the single greatest existential threat to children worldwide, adversely affecting the health and well-being of children and young people. The Royal College of Paediatrics and ...

Mozambique climate change

