

Is solar energy on the verge of a major expansion in Russia?

Vadim Braidov /TASS Solar energy in Russia might be on the verge of a major expansion, thanks to a government support program for renewable energy sources, industry experts told The Moscow Times. Russia, the world's fourth-largest emitter of greenhouse gases, has historically relied on its vast oil and gas reserves to bolster its economy.

How much power does Russia get from solar power?

The global economy gets roughly 10% of its power from wind and solar sources, while in Russia, solar's share is just 0.2%. The government gives fossil fuel companies trillions of rubles in tax incentives each year, even though they already turn the same amount in profits, according to Greenpeace Russia.

Could a hybrid solar-diesel power station help Russia's Arctic settlements?

"Most Russian regions have high insolation -- above 1,000 -- the level required to generate energy," the company said in a statement. Both Unigreen and HEVEL experts said Russia's many Arctic settlements could benefit from hybrid solar-diesel power stations that would cut costs and solve supply chain and shortage problems.

Could a solar panel in the Arctic generate more electricity?

On a clear, sunny day, a solar panel in the Arctic might generate more electricity than its twin in Morocco. As the third-largest carbon emitter in human history, Russia faces an uphill battle in its attempts to move from fossil fuels to renewable and other sources of clean energy.
