The pit storage investigated in this work is the one in Dronninglund, which we already mentioned in issue 32 of our newsletter before. The storage has a volume of 60,000 m³; and openly shares a public dataset for the year 2014. In the thesis by Xiang, we also find a good overview of some other existing pit storages, the technical design and ...

For deep pit manure storage systems feeding DDGS rations, reduced water use during the cool summers, and choice of barn cleanser may contribute to foam production. Evidence indicated that DDGS inclusion in swine diets increased excreted manure volumes due to higher levels of indigestible fiber in the feed, and decreased water usage in the barn ...
